DR. H. KIMBALL'S MINERAL THETH.—The celebrity which these Teeth have obtained, and the high value set upon them by those who have worn them, together with their known intrinsic superiority over the great mass of Teeth that are made in this country, have induced Dr. Kimball to make such arrangements as will hereafter enable him to supply the increasing demand for them to any extent; he has been confirmed in this design by the uniform success which has attended his practice in this department of his profession, and by the high encominus that have been passed upon these Teeth by many of our most distinguished citizens who are now wearing them, and by several of the most eminent Physicians and Dentists of this BONE-About 3000 lbs. MISS ORAM'S PICTORIAL DEFINER.

SECRETARY'S OFFICE,
DEPARTMENT or COSMON SCHOOLS,
Dear Sir: I have examined the "Pictorial Definer," Deer Sir.: I have examined the "Pictorial Demer," by Elizabeth Oram, and am highly pleased not only with the design, but the execution of the work. It appears to me to be admirably adapted to the purposes of elementary instruction in our Common Schools, and calculated to arrest the attention and expand the minds of the young, giving them clear, accurate and intelligible conceptions of those material objects to which the structure of our language and literature is so greatly indebted. The authories has, in my judgment, succeeded to a very great extent in embodying in her work the enlightened conception of Locke which she has possibilizable adopted.

wery great extent in embodying in her work the enlightened concerting of Locke, which she has so judiciously adopted as her motto.

Very respectfully yours,

Mr. Benson J. Lessing, New-York,

Mrss Oram: I have examined your "Pictorial Definer" with much interest and gratification. Its plan is in many respects novel, and, having the rare merit of originality in this age of compilers, is worthy of commendation and patronage—it combines an extent of practical and nastal knowledge in reference to the philosophy of our language, which is seldom found condensed in a single volume. The beauty and taste of the prictorial illustrations will reader it attractive to children and prove both entertaining and instructive. I cordially add my testimony to this product of your long experience in the art of teaching, as being worthy of untroduction into families and schools, and doubt not it will be appreciated by the fracterity of teachers generally.

I succeptly wish that your labor and skill expended in its peciparation, may be recompensed by the favor and patronage of the American public.

Respectfully words.

Miss Elexaneth Oran — Dear Madam — I have examed, with some care, your Pictorial Definer, and can recomend it to Teachers and Families, with confidence, as a work at will prove highly useful to the Youth of our Country, hope its adoption in our Schools may be as extensive as the cite to the Publisher for the elegant names in which the book executed. 1 have examined the Pictorial Definer, edited by Miss Oram, and take pleasure in recommending it to parents and instructors, as a most valuable help in the work of education. It emails as a most valuable help in the work of education. It emails are not because the foreibly impressed the definition in cornel illustrations, and foreibly impressed the definition in communities. It is a happy combination of influences, whereby the eye date in mind, and instruction is of consequence advanced.

traticus, and forcibly impresses the definition upon the memory. It is a happy combination of influences, whereby the eye aids the mind, and instruction is of consequence advanced. It would amply repay a place on every family table.

New-York, Dec. 25, 1814

My dear Miss Orion: Having had a long acquaintance with your peculiar adaptation to the instruction of youth, and with conserving the properties of the preparation of books for educational use. "The Fictorial Definer," which you have been kind enough to haid me for perusal, has the double advantage of conveying much information, while its beautiful illustrative ornaments cannot but captivate the attention of the youthful mind.

Well represented objects, and clear definitions of them, with the annexed explanation of other words having a relation to the first, and when required, a startement of the figurative uses to which the principal terms are applied, together with their appropriation in the margin to the branch of science, literature. See, to which they severally belong, all recommend the book as creditable alike to your talents and ingenuity as to the strong desire which I know you feel for the furthereace of the cause of education.

Wishing you good success in the circulation of the work, and hoping it may encourage you in the preparation of others, I remain your friend and servant, JAMES MILNOR. To Miss E. Oram.

Dec. D. 1841.

After a careful examination of the "Pictorial Definer," by Miss Oran, I have no hesitation in saying, that it will prove a very merful and acceptable School Book, and I do therefor fully and cheerfully concur in the opinion expressed by Rev Dr. Milnor.

In our last communication we said that, if Mr. Dodge stated things as they were, he should have no word of contention from us, but he has not told them as they were, or as they are: and we pronounce his last article unterest and we defy him, and all the world with him, to prove it otherwise. We shall take no farther notice of any thing he may say, and regret exceedingly that we were compelled, from many disagreeable circumstances growing out of misrepresentation, to notice him at all. His acknowledgement of the facts first published by us is what we wished the public to understand. We therefore take leave, thanking him for the assistance he has rendered us in making them known. POLISH YOUR STOVES AND GRATES.—Every body in Boston is polishing their stoves and grates with Wm. Brown's Pencil Paste. No better evidence of neatness, when you enter a dwelling, than to notice the Stoves and Grates are well polished. We would recommend for this purpose WM. BROWN'S PENCIL PASTE. It is put in rolls, which cost but 12 cents, and has many advantages over the British Lustre and Black Lead, as its advantages over the British Lustre and Black Lead, as its lustre is brighter, lasts longer, and is used with much less dust and trouble. In one minimte after it gets dry, by application of a brush, you get a beautiful polish. For sale at WM. BROWN'S, 43! Washington street.
